

Blended Applejack

AMERICA'S FIRST SPIRIT

AN AMERICAN ORIGINAL

Known as "America's First Spirit," Applejack has been part of American culture since before independence. The Laird family has produced Applejack in New Jersey since 1698; its first recorded commercial transaction dates to 1780.

In 1972, the family created the Blended Applejack category to meet demand for lighter, lower-proof spirits. Today, Laird's blends aged apple brandy with neutral grain spirits for rich flavor and smooth balance.
