

America's 250th Anniversary

13-YEAR-OLD APPLE BRANDY

A 13-year tribute. A 328-year legacy.

1,300 BOTTLES

Individually numbered. Offered once.

THE LIQUID

*Orchard first. Honey second.
The oak waits its turn.*

Laid down in 2013. Rested thirteen years in once-used bourbon barrels. Bottled at a strength chosen so the fruit could lead.

A ONCE-IN-A-GENERATION RELEASE

When the United States was founded in 1776, the Laird family had already been distilling apple brandy in New Jersey for 78 years. Today, the eighth, ninth and tenth generations still run the business and source apples from American orchards.

This 13-year-old tribute to America's 250th anniversary is Laird's longest-aged apple brandy ever bottled. Distilled in North Garden, Virginia, it matured in American oak through more than a decade of summers and winters.
