

Old Fashioned RTD

APPLE BRANDY & ANGOSTURA BITTERS

READY TO SERVE

MADE IN TRUE FASHION

In 1806, The Balance and Columbian Repository defined the “cocktail” as a mixture of spirits, sugar, water and bitters. The origins of the name “Old Fashioned” remain a matter of debate.

The Laird family has its own connection: Samuel Laird trained the celebrated race mare Fashion, while his son Joseph rode her. In 1855, she became known as “Old Fashioned” after foaling Young Fashion.

Perhaps the original Old Fashioned cocktail was made with Samuel Laird’s spirit: Laird’s Applejack.
